Hopperstad finally home after 36 days of COVID recovery

By JoAnn Lower

It was December 11 when Jan Hopperstad went to be tested for the coronavirus.

"I had been feeling tired, had no energy and would sometimes my chain thought," she remembers. "I had no sense of taste or smell, and Jerry said I had a fever."

Jan's test came back positive for COVID-19. She had asked Jerry to go with her that day, but he wouldn't go.

Six days later, "It really hit me," Jerry said. "I had no symptoms and I'd never had lung problems; just weak from not having enough oxygen."

Jan called their son Jay and his wife Robin to help, but after one look at Jerry, they said he needed more than a he needed an ambulance.

Within minutes, Jake Loken, full-time EMT with the ambulance service, walked through Hopperstad's front door. "We were so

County discuss options for dangerous intersection

County officials recently discussed options to address a dangerous intersection following another accident in recent weeks.

The intersection in question is where Thrush Avenue and 390th Street cross. There are stop signs for those driving on Thrush Avenue at the intersection. However, over the years those driving on the road have ignored the stops and several collisions occurred, including one in the last few weeks.

A fatal accident in June 2016 led the County to take safety measures. Later that year, rumble strips and stop signs with LED lighting were

First baby of 2021 arrives Jan. 16

It took 16 days, but the first baby of 2021 has arrived in the Northwood-Kensett school district.

Scottlyn Jane Kunz was born at 6:13 p.m. on January 16. She was 8 lbs., 10 oz. and 20 3/4 inches long.

Scottlyn's arrival was a special present for her sister, Quinnleigh, who turned 7 the same day her new sister was born.

Their parents are Danielle and Kris Kunz, of rural Northwood. Grandparents are Scott and Natalie Kunz, Manly, Larry and Erica Willsher, Clear Lake, and Travis and Donna Christiansen, West Des Moines.

The Kunz family is already blessed with Scottlyn's arrival, but they will also be blessed with gifts of congratulations from several Northwood businesses.

The first baby's parents will have a perfect place to store the baby's first clothes, once the first baby has put them to good use, with a new laundry basket from Kelly Hardware.

One of the first baby's first toys will be provided by Carquest Auto Parts with a limited edition collector car.

The first baby will be kept warm with a baby quilt from the Top of Iowa Welcome Center's Barn Boutique.

Soon after being admitted to the hospital Hopperstad was given antibodies and started on steroids because of his extremely low oxygen levels. "When I started to

"Our bathroom is 3-4 times the distance Jerry walked in his room," Jan said, "so we set up chairs the first few times so he could rest along the way. Now he can even get to the freezer for ice cream with no problem."

The most difficult part of this whole ordeal was that Jan couldn't see her husband, but that problem was also solved.

The topic of the danger of the intersection was up for discussion at the January 25 meeting of the Worth County board of supervisors. Following the most recent accident, Worth County Sheriff Dan Fank said that he had talked to those that live nearby and said that they see people run the stop signs on a regular Fank suggested that the County should consider making the intersection a four way stop.

"It's the only thing I can think of to improve the intersection, Fank said. "I'm just looking for something to put there besides more crosses in that ditch."

County engineer Rich Brumm cautioned against jumping on the option before studying whether it would have the desired effect, or if it would cause more accidents.

"People are used to driving through there going east and west, and we don't want there to be an accident when people breeze through when they're not used to stopping," Brumm said.

Brumm noted that the latest accident and others in the past had occurred when people ignored the stop signs. He said that if the problems occur because people run the ones in place, he wanted to be sure that running past signs at a four-way stop wouldn't create a bigger danger.

Brumm said there may be other options, like a street light.

Brumm said that the

For his part, supervisor AJ Stone said that he agreed that the County needs to look at what else can be done. As a member of the Manly Fire Department, Stone said that he had responded to two accidents at the intersection and he didn't want to have anyone be out there again if there was something they could

One month into the new year, many people may be ready to give up on their resolutions to improve their eating habits for better health. However, the newly updated Nutrition Facts label can help change habits and keep resolutions, says Jody Gatewood, nutrition state specialist with Iowa State University Extension and Outreach.

Based on epidemiologic and modeling data, researchers believe that the B.1.1.7 strain can be spread more easily than the original strain of SARS-CoV-2. Current COVID-19 vaccines are considered to be effective against the variant strain.

Two of the three B.1.1.7 cases were detected in Johnson County, an adult (18 to 40) and a middle aged adult (41 to 60) and an adult individual in Bremer County.

The positive cases were identified by the State Hygienic Lab (SHL). SHL has been participating in the CDC's SARS-CoV-2 Strain Surveillance Program by sending COVID-19 test samples to be sequenced for the B.1.1.7 variant since early December. SHL recently began doing their own internal sequencing to look specifically for the variant. Routine analysis of genetic sequence data assisted in identifying the new variant strain in Iowa.

"Viruses constantly change through mutation, and new variants of a virus are expected to occur over time. Sometimes new variants emerge and disappear. Other times, new variants emerge and persist. Farmers Win and Five Star are continuing to pursue merging into a combined cooperative. In February 2020, both boards of directors signed a letter of intent to begin the study of a potential merger known as due diligence.

At that time, employee teams from both cooperatives formed seven research teams tasked with investigating the potential synergies as well as risks. Employee teams reported out those findings to the joint board, after which each board of directors approved to definitive sign the agreement.

Something neither cooperative board was anticipating in this process was a global pandemic and the challenges it created. This made it difficult to stay on pace that was originally projected.

"Our goal in facing this situation was twofold: protect our employees' and communities' health as best we can, and secondly to continue to operate your cooperatives in a manner that best serves your needs in this everchanging business climate. Reporting the results of the employee teams was very difficult as we believed that being in person was beneficial for this decishared Ken sion," Smith, CEO/General Manager for Five Star Cooperative.

"Due diligence is a critical component of the process. It helps identify the true benefits for our members as well as our employee teams," shared Trent General Sprecker, Manager of Farmers Win Coop. "For this reason, we continued the collaboration throughout 2020 with the boards and employees. I believe we benefited from this additional time."

With the due diligence study completed, the next step was for the employee teams to share their findings. Each team assessed all aspects of their current departments and compared processes with the other cooperative while maintaining the highest level of confidentiality. Vikings' huge third quarter secures five point win over Central Springs

By Mike Simmons Sports Editor

After losing five consecutive to its Worth County rival, the Northwood-Kensett boys basketball team looked to take its second win in a row against the Panthers of Central Springs last Thursday night in Manly.

But with the two teams pretty evenly matched it would take a season defining effort for one team to overcome the other Fortunately for the Vikings their own Caden Roberts was the one to provide that spark.

With the Vikings trailing at the halftime break 27-18 they came out in the third quarter and put up one of their best quarters of the season, pouring in 24 points and securing a 42-37 lead heading into the final eight minutes of play, where they held on for the slim 55-50

This Worth County rivalry is one of the best and evenly matched anywhere in the state with the Vikings now on top by one game, 13-12 with last Thursday's Roberts scored a season high 28 points on 9-22 shooting from the field. Fellow seniors TJ Whitelow and Kael Julseth added 11 and nine points respectively.

Because of a weather postponement on Saturday the Vikings played their last game of the week last Friday night when they hosted Mason City Newman.

N-K has had a big problem when it comes to Newman. It has lost 15 of the last 16 games played between the two schools, including nine in a row since the Vikings' last win in 2016.

Sadly for the Vikings that trend continued in last Friday night's game with Newman leading 26-12 after the first and 53-24 at the halftime break on its way to a blowout win by 41 points, 82-41.

N-K's seniors led it in the loss, including Julseth (11 pts.), Whitelow (10 pts.), Roberts (8 pts.) and Cade Hengesteg (7

After going 1-1 last week the Vikings are now 4-10 overall and 2-9 in the Top of Iowa Conference East.

N-K had a busy schedule this week with four games, including Monday versus North Butler, Tuesday versus Saint Ansgar, Thursday versus Belmond-Klemme and Friday at Osage.

Lady Vikings crush North Iowa 53-27, now 5-11 on the year

By Mike Simmons Sports Editor

Northwood-The Kensett girls basketball team has started to find its way, just in time for the postseason. N-K won one of its three games last week and lost another by just two points, improving to 5-11 overall and 3-9 in the Top of Iowa Conference East.

The Lady Vikings got the week started on a high note last Monday when they traveled to Buffalo Center to take on their TIC West rival North Iowa in a non-conference matchup.

After the first quarter ended in an 8-8 tie the Lady Vikings offense started to click and they never looked back, taking a 24-13 lead into the halftime break and increasing that to 47-17 to start the fourth quarter.

N-K, behind a double-double by freshman Costello, Chloe who scored a team high 21 points and pulled down 10 rebounds, sealed the win in the fourth quarter, outscoring the Lady Bison 12-10 to hold on to the lopsided win, 53-27.

The Lady Vikings started last Thursday night's game at Central Springs trailing by just two points, 15-13 after the first eight minutes of play. Although they fell off considerably in the second quarter, the team still was only looking at a 21-19 halftime deficit.

With the two teams so evenly matched all it took was one bad quarter and either team could ride that to the end, and that's exactly what the Panthers did when they out scored N-K by 10, 14-4 in the third quarter, a deficit the Lady Vikings, despite another double-double, this time by Marli Backhaus (12 pts, 11 rebounds), simply could not overcome in the 42-30 TIC East loss.

The Lady Vikings closed out the week last Friday night when the Knights of Mason City Newman came to town. N-K has historically had a hard time with its Mason City rival, losing 12 consecutive games to the Knights.

But after many of those 12 games ended with a large margin of victory for the Knights, N-K seemed to have had enough and gave the visitors on this night everything they could handle, and then some.

The score swung wildly in one direction and then the other in this with all the marbles coming down to the final quarter of play, where

Northwood-Kensett	3-9	5-11
North Butler	2-12	3-15

the Lady Vikings prevailed 7-5 but still came up just two-points short, falling 32-30.

Carly Hengesteg led the team with 14 points on 5-19 shooting from the field while Backhaus and Emma Davidson added six points each.

The Lady Vikings had three games on the schedule this week, inand Friday at Osage.

N-K wrestlers dominate the competition at West Fork Quad

By Mike Simmons Sports Editor

Northwood-Kensett head wrestling coach Jordan Reindl had his team ready to wrestle in last Tuesday night's quad in Sheffield, earning lopsided wins over West Fork 51-0, Garner-Hayfield-Ventura 48-21 and North Union 42-36.

Against GHV the Vikings only actually wrestled three matches and came away with two wins. Treycen Rollene beat Brad Dodd in just 59 seconds and Tyler Mills won his match by fall at the 3:06 mark over Landen Hejlik.

The win over the Warhawks looked much the same with just Mason Thofson (fall), Rollene (fall), Dalton Logeman (fall), Brandon Varner (fall), Drake Tiedemann (fall) and Josiah Kliment (fall) getting to actually wrestle, all picking up wins by fall in the 51-0 win.

Union with the men from N-K coming away with the slim 42-36 win. In this dual, Rollene picked up his third fall of the night while Logeman, Tiedemann and Kliment won by fall as well.

The Vikings will take the bulk of this week off to prepare for this Saturday's tional tournament held at Lake Mills. The top two wrestlers in each weight class will move on to compete in next Saturday's district tournament in Denver.

An update on bills passed

WEEK THREE

This week we shifted from the formalities of starting a new session to committee work and floor debate. Several bills passed the House and have been sent to the Governor.

Parental Choice in Education

This bill would require schools to present parents with the option of sending their children for 100% in-person learning, giving parents a choice and voice in their child's education.

- Some schools have taken every effort to provide in-person learning. But in some areas of the state, students are being trapped in situations that aren't what's best for them.
- Schools may continue to offer online learning or a hybrid model.
- A recently released CDC study found that K-12 schools don't lead to increases in COVID-19 compared to areas that have onlineonly learning.

The Life Amendment attempts to correct what is perceived as judicial overreach when the Iowa Supreme Court labeled abortion as a constitutional right. This must pass the next general assembly (2023) and then it will be on the ballot.

The Freedom passed Amendment the Iowa House for the second time and will be on the ballot in our next election. Iowa is one of six states that has no language in its constitution to protect the fundamental right to keep and bear arms. This bill would put this language into our constitution.

Child and dependent care

I have heard a lot of discussion on the shortage of childcare in our state and the legislature is focusing on several bills to increase affordable childcare in our state.

This week, we moved on several bills to increase provider rates, increase child care workforce, provide tax incentives to develop new or expand child care facilities and double the income limits to claim the Child and Dependent Care Credit.

Unfortunately, 81 Child Care Centers and 41 Child Care Development Homes have closed since March, making it even more difficult for parents to find affordable child care for their family.

As always, I look forward to hearing from you with any questions, comments or concerns. I can be reached at jane. bloomingdale@legis. iowa.gov Check out my Facebook page for other updates.

Youth Diversion program changes referral process

From Prairie Ridge Integrated Behavioral Healthcare

Due to the pandemic, we are changing the way we are offering our Youth Diversion program across North Iowa. Previously, referrals to this program happened primarily through the school principal for students violating "Good Conduct" policies by using alcohol and/or other substances. Sometimes, this has been made a precondition of returning to school sports and extracurricular activities. Now, we are opening the referral process for this one-day early intervention program to any adult who works with a youth and/or their family: healthcare providers and/or counselors, coaches, clergy, social workers, as well as school staff. Even a parent can decide to refer their youth to this program, and the registration process is simple and no cost aside from the time commitment. Our goal is to provide a shame-free, stigma-free learning environment for both the youth and the parent/caregiver in order to help the youth make lifetime low-risk choices around alcohol and other substances. We use a version of the highlyrecommended 'Prime for Life' curriculum during this one-day program and provide all needed materials. The parent/ caregiver must attend and participate with the youth for the duration of this program.

This program meets the first Saturday of every month. Parents need to register their youth by the first Wednesday of the month to participate, and may do so by emailing Amee Miller, amiller@prairieridge.net; or by calling her at 319-470-1483.

Prairie Ridge Diversion Program is for youth conduct offenders. Prai-Ridge Prevention Specialists deliver the Prime for Life curriculum. Prime For Life® is a motivational risk reduction program. It is used most with people who have had a legal or policy violation such as impaired driving, possession, or workplace violation, but it is relevant for everyone. Prime for Life helps foster attitudes, beliefs, and understanding that helps people reduce risk for any type of alcohol or drug problem. It also creates a unique self-assessment experience to help people be more aware of what they value, what they are risking, and how to protect the things that mean the most in their lives.

*Diversion will be held the first Saturday of each month, 9 a.m.- 2 p.m. (breaks provided with screen breaks scheduled) ONLINE via Zoom. A link will be emailed to each student and parent to join. A PDF of the program book will also be emailed to the student and parent.

*Each student must be present with a parent/ guardian with them for this class. This means they need to have video and microphone access to attend this program. Both parent and student are expected to be ready on time and participate through this online program. Each student will receive a certificate which they are required to turn into the school to show completion of pro-

*We would appreciate your school and/or the parent calling or emailing Amee Miller, Prevention Specialist with Prairie Ridge the Wednesday prior to the program, at 319-470-1483 or amiller@prairieridge.net.

only important things in life, or even the most important things in life. Most of us would probably agree that God and our family should come before our job, and

Work and Productivity may be important, but they aren't the that the whole point of work is to help us support ourselves and our families. A much neglected area of many people's lives today is leisure. We are so busy with work and the workaday aspects of life (e.g., cooking, cleaning, etc.) that we don't find time for play. Play can be any thing from playing catch with your children to enjoying music to playing games. The arts are also an important aspect of leisure, and simply going to a museum or to the movies can be a nice break from the monotony of our work lives. Children are often better at playing than adults, so you might just let the kids decide on the playtime activity. Try something you haven't tried before. Throw a Frisbee or make up a new game. Put on a play with your family or friends, or play a guessing game. There is no end to the ways in which we might enjoy our leisure time. – Christopher Simon

"Cheap." "Fast." "Good." Well, those are three words that resonate with most home cooks who are one a budget, short on time but like tasty food. The title of this cookbook, "Cheap. Fast. Good.," by Beverly Mills and Alicia Ross (2005, Workman Publishing Co, Inc., NYC) has printed on the cover that there are "hundreds of ways to eat well for less...plan smart and cook smart.." What's not to like about that plan? These recipes are adapted from the chapter titled, "Super-Saver Soups and Stews." There are cost designations on some of the recipes...a nice touch.

Hot Dog and Baked Bean Soup (Super-Cheap!) 2 teaspoons vegetable oil

3 regular or reduced-fat beef frankfurters

1 large can (28 oz.) baked beans seasoned with onions, bacon, brown cans (14 oz. each) chicken broth or chicken stock, low-sodium if possible

1/2 teaspoon chili powder teaspoon spicy brown mustard 3/4 cup chopped green bell pepper

(optional if you don't like the taste) Heat the óil in a large Dutch ovén or heavy soup pot, over medium heat. Cut the franks into 1/4-inch slices and add them to the heated oil. Cook until the slices start to brown, turning them over so both sides get the heat. Add the baked beans with their sauce plus the broth, chili powder and mustard. Stir well to combine. Meanwhile, cut the potatoes in half lengthwise. Add the broth to the soup pot, raise the heat to high and bring to a boil. When the broth boils, reduce the heat again to medium. Scoop out the insides of the potato halves into a large bowl, leaving you with just the skins. Cut the potato into bite-sized pieces and add them to the pot. Add the milk and sour cream and stir well. Add the salt and pepper, tasting to season to taste. Cook until heated through. Serve at once, garnished with the bacon bits and shredded Cheddar on top as desired, NOTE: Cook ing your own bacon and crumbling is cost-effective and also gives you a good product. It will not be as uniform in size as the canned or bottled version but will have a much fresher flavor. Some of the drippings will also flavor the soup when you add the bacon. If you do cook your own bacon, substitute 1 tablespoon of the drippings for the butter in this recipe.

N-K official enrollment shows small decrease from 2019

where education has brought some changes uncertainty, Northwood-Kensett's official enrollment, used to determine State of Iowa funding, has remained relatively consistent.

The total official enrollment in this school year was 503.8 students, down 5, or 0.98% from last year's official enrollment of 508.8 students.

The certified enrollment number is used by the State of Iowa to determine the amount of spending authority each Iowa school district has access to during a school year.

While the school district receives funds for each student it educates, the amount of money it can spend is dictated by the official enrollment number, which reflects the number of students living in the district. The official enrollment figures are composed of two student populations, those living in the district and district attending schools and those that live in the district that are educated elsewhere. While the total number of students living in the district is down, the number of resident students that attend classes in the district has changed only slightly, dropping from 470.3 to 469.3, or one student.

The .8 portion of a student included in offihome-schooled students that have access to N-K resources.

The other portion of the official enrollment count is the amount of students that live in the district, but who are educated in other school districts, and for which the N-K district forwards funding. That includes students who open enroll out of the district into other Iowa districts and students who attend alternative schools in Iowa.

Students living in the district, but attending classes at other schools totaled 34 this year, 4 less than the 2019 total of 38.

When it comes to the incoming student population, those who open enroll into the district, the total showed a decrease of just one over the previous year. The number of students open enrolled into N-K schools this year decreased from 29 in 2019 to 28 this year.

Students actually educated at N-K schools includes the combination of Iowa students living in and educated in the district and those enrolled into the district. That total has decreased 2, from 499.8 in 2019 to 497.8 in 2020-2021.

The official enrollfigures only ment include students living in Iowa, not those attending N-K schools who live in Minnesota.

While the Glenvillecial figures, accounts Emmons school district that allowed students in its district to cross the state border and attend classes at N-K, those Minnesota students previously attending N-K classes, or who have siblings that were already attending N-K, were grandfathered into the agreement and will be able to finish their education in Iowa.

The number Minnesota students attending school at N-K this year is 13, the same as in 2019.

Excluding those students open enrolled out and the dual-enrollment, and including

In a school year for dual-enrollment, or ended an agreement those students open school district will enrolled in, as well as from students Minnesota, the total number of K-12 students being educated in the N-K school district this year was 510 when official numbers were taken, down 2 from 512 in 2019.

Also adding to this year's total of students for whom the district will receive funding, are those that are enrolled in the district's fouryear-old preschool classes.

The district receives 0.5 credits for each qualifying preschool student. This year the receive funds for 20.5 students, accounting for 41 preschoolers. This number is up from last year's total of 18.5 credits for 37 students.

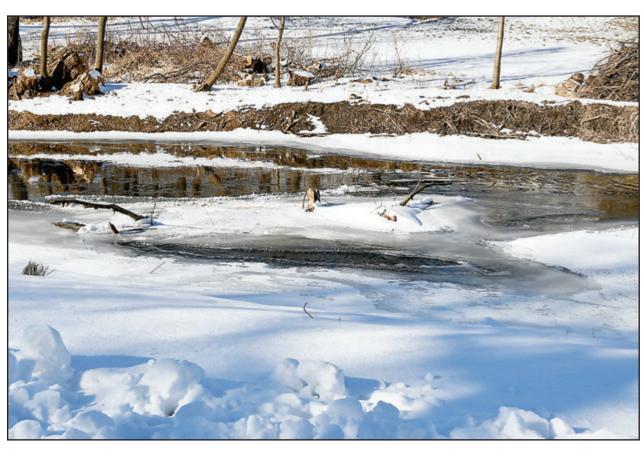

The number on official enrollment figures does not reflect the actual total of children in N-K preschools. The district only receives credit based on the age of the student and how many times they have attended preschool.

The district will also receive credit when it comes time to determining funding through a program to encourage the sharing of resources amongst schools. The district will receive a total of 21 credits, the maximum allowed by the program, for those agreements.

Including the resident students, those open enrolled into the district, the credit for its preschool and the addition for its sharing agreements, the district will receive Iowa state aid for 538.5 students, the same as in the year 2019.

The district will also receive funds from the State of Minnesota for the students attending N-K from across the border.

After more than a century, lumberyard building reborn as center of community celebrations

For many years, the made it possible. northeast corner of Street in Northwood was the supplies. Now, it is a place of gathering and celebration as the Timbers is open.

The building itself can be traced as far back as 1902. Several families operated lumberyards on the spot over the years, until Northwood Lumber closed in 2016.

With new owners a number of options were considered for how the property could be put to use. That's when an opportunity to provide an unserved community resource began.

Owners Scott Madsen and Brian Kenison approached Total United Northwood Effort (TUNE) group with Madsen's idea to turn the large lumber storage building into an events center with a unique theme.

It would provide the type of large gathering place that before now those living in Northwood had to find elsewhere in neighboring towns.

For TUNE, it would be the second large scale effort to provide a special gathering place for those living in and visiting the community, following their efforts to bring a movie theater to Northwood.

Bad joke department

Teslas are expensive because they charge a lot. If I could describe myself in five words, they'd be "Bad at math."

What's the opposite of irony? Wrinkly.

From the mailbag

Amos Vogel of Morgan wrote, "On the subject of days getting longer on both ends. I was just wondering if that meant that we will be having more than 24 hrs. in a day and if that happened will our weeks get shorter or longer? ... That way I would have a better chance of catching up on things that I haven't got done. Especially in the nothing to do department. Once you start doing nothing there is so much of that to do you may have to hire help."

Nature notes

White-tailed deer change from grazers to browsers in winter. Red foxes stay warm with their thick winter coats. An adult rarely retreats to a den in winter, but curls into a ball in the open, using its bushy tail to wrap around its nose and footpads instead. I've looked through spotting scopes and seen foxes blanketed in Between bites of seeds under a bird feeder, the nervous rooster pheasant looked upward hawkwardly for aerial predators. I watched a hawk perched in a cottonwood. The hawk had quite a slice and it wasn't anywhere near a golf course. In falconry, a slice is when a hawk propels its droppings out and away from a nest or perch. A bigger bird, like a bald eagle, can add serious velocity to that action. Falconers refer to hawk droppings as mutes. I thought of a line from a book I'd read, "The hawk was everything I wanted to be: solitary, self-possessed, free from grief, and numb to the hurts of human life." I'm guessing Helen Macdonald wasn't thinking about slicing when she wrote that part of her delightful book, "H Is for Hawk."

I squinted to see the rabbit on the moon. The man on the moon is a myth. The moon looked yellow, silver or white, but was likely gray.

The end of the obituary of Margaret M. DeAdder of Moncton, New Brunswick, read: "In lieu of flowers, the family asks that you do something nice for somebody else unexpectedly, and without explanation. We love you, mom, a bushel and a peck. A bushel and a peck and a hug around the neck."

LRH open to visits as rates fall

Monday, the Lutheran Retirement Home announced that with COVID-19 positivity rates falling, the facility would once again be opening to visitors.

Less than one week earlier, administrator ScottHalbach had announced that all staff and residents that wanted a COVID-19 vaccine had received a full course of the Pfizer offering in January.

At that time, Halbach wrote, even with the vaccine distributed to all those residents and staff members that wanted one, vaccination does not guarantee protection and that staff would continue to be as safe as possible and observe state and federal guidelines. He also said visits would not be available until rates fell below 10% in Worth County.

The 14-day positivity rate, as of Monday, had fallen to 6.5% in Worth County. On Monday, LRH announced that they were immediately restarting indoor visits.

The visiting beautician will also be back in the building, with safety measures in place. While indoor visits were once again allowed, safety protocols will still observed. This includes wearing a mask and passing a health screening before entering the building. All visits will take place behind a plastic barrier. Those that would like to visit with someone at the Lutheran Retirement Home may contact Cassie at 641-324-1712 or at davisc@ northwoodlrh.org to set up a time.
