N-K visits NVFC, and vice versa

During National Fire Safety Week last week, members of the Northwood Volunteer Fire Company visited students at Northwood-Kensett Elementary to make sure they were learning all they needed to know about staying safe in fires. Students in the kindergarten classes also visited the fire station to learn about the vehicles, equipment and station used by the NVFC.

Alternately, should the vote not pass, Stone said that the Mason City Fire Department is expected to ask the County for approximately $300,000 annually to continue responding in the county. The other two agencies bringing ambulances into the county, Forest City and Lake Mills, are expected to ask for funds in turn, should that happen.

meeting in Northwood asked Locally, in Northwood, the why Kensett was being considered as the ambulance location when Northwood and the casino accounted for the larger population and resulting portion of emergency calls in the county.

Stone said that the taxes are on ballots for the entirety of the county, adding that have to be there less time other areas of the county like Grafton, Manly, Fertile and Hanlontown would not be better served if an ambulance was in Northwood. He said Kensett improved response times for the most people in the county, particularly areas like Northwood with some of the longest ambulance response times, and Grafton, where ambulances are often the first responders on the scene.

Another question from teer first responders in the the community of Northwood and the NVFC was one of the impact on fundraising. The NVFC has prided itself on operating solely on donations for decades. There are concerns that people may be less likely to donate if they are paying more in taxes for an ambulance.

> Stone said that the rest of the fire departments in the county collect some form of taxes and still hold fundraising to be able to cover expenses. He said that it would be up to the community and the NVFC to address those needs.

> Several speaking up at the meeting questioned how the EMS committee meetings were held.

> Stone said that the meetings are open to the public. Members of the press and other fire department representatives have been invited to the meetings.

Asked about the availability of agendas or minutes, Stone said those have not been documented.

That added to sentiments that many felt like the process was rushed, secretive and asked why the vote couldn't be held later.

Pro Ag Outlook and Management series begins in November

Producers, ag lenders and suppliers can get a look at current market conditions and expected trends in crop and livestock income potential during the annual Pro Ag Outlook and Management webinar series, which begins Nov. 7.

Live webinars will be held daily Nov. 7-10, from noon to 1 p.m. Central time. A live question and answer session will follow each presentation. Programs will be available for on-demand viewing the day following each live broadcast.

Timely topics include an update on carbon markets, transportation logistics and supply chain issues, as well as crop and livestock market outlooks by economists with Iowa State University Extension and Outreach.

"Agribusiness professionals, producers and others in the agricultural industry will benefit from hearing economic experts from Iowa State University address current and rising issues direct impacts on U.S. producers in 2022 and attendees will gain insights and a better understanding of what to watch and prepare impacts on agriculture. for going into 2023."

Speakers include Chad Hart, professor in economics and extension grain markets specialist at Iowa State; Alejandro Plastina, associate professor in economics and extension economist; Lee Schulz, associate professor in economics and livestock economist; and Bobby Martens, associate professor and ag supply chain specialist.

The program takes an in-depth look into the outlook for agriculture in 2023 and provides an opportunity to discuss the current Iowa economic situation with university experts.

Seminar dates and speakers:

Monday, Nov. 7.Alejandro Plastina provides kets and credits.

"World events have had pork and other Iowa industries.

> Wednesday, Nov. 9. Bobby Martens discusses logistics and transportation

Thursday, Nov. 10. Chad Hart discusses crop markets for 2023 and beyond.

All webinars will be moderated by Ann Johanns. She can be reached at aholste@ iastate.edu or 515-337-2766.

Registration for the whole series is $20 per email address and includes access to the four live programs and archived recordings of each session. Register at: https://www. aep.iastate.edu/proag/

Viewing of the live and recorded programs is through a web browser and no additional software downloads are needed. Only paid registrants will have access to the webinar recordings following the live events. Initial quesan update on carbon mar- tions for the presenters can be sent to agdm@iastate.

Meet the N-K alumni- Kristen Shelton

Earlier this year, a call went out to Northwood-Kensett alumni to respond to a survey about their time at N-K and where their education has taken them.

The goal of the survey was to provide current students with a look at where former students have gone using what they learned at N-K.

The surveys also give a chance for Anchor readers to reconnect with former classmates and former students whose time at N-K was featured in the local newspaper.

Those N-K alums that have not yet taken the survey can find it online at tinyurl.com/N-KAlumni.

Following is information Kristen (Meyer) Shelton shared in the survey:

Kristen Shelton is a 2007 graduate of N-KHS.

After N-K, Shelton went to Wartburg College, where she majored in Wartburg

College, where she majored in biology, with a psychology minor. She then went on to Mercy College for a bachelors degree in nursing.

Iowa's Low-Income Telephone & Broadband Assistance Programs

Programs are available in Iowa offering discounted phone and Broadband service if a subscriber or member of the subscriber's household meets certain qualifying criteria. This program is also called "Lifeline".

An application must be completed along with proof of participation in one of the qualifying programs and sent to Winnebago Cooperative Telecom Association.

The Low-Income program offers discounts of up to $9.25 per month depending on the rate of your local phone company. See Winnebago Cooperative Telecom Association for an application form.

Qualifying Criteria for Low-Income Program

An individual is eligible if he or she participates in one of the following programs:

- Federal Public Housing Assistance
- Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)
- Medicaid
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Tribal Programs
- Veterans & Survivors Pension Benefit

In addition, a consumer may be eligible if his or her household income is at or below 135% of the federal poverty guidelines. You may only receive low-income assistance from one wireline or wireless telephone, or one broadband service provider per household. See Winnebago Cooperative Telecom Association at 704 East Main St., Lake Mills, IA 50450 (800-592-6105) for lowa guidelines.

Affordable Connectivity Program

The Affordable Connectivity Program is a Federal Communications Commission program that helps connect families and households struggling to afford internet service. This new benefit provides a discount of up to $30 per month toward broadband service for eligible households and up to $75 per month for households on qualifying Tribal lands. Eligible households can also receive a one-time discount of up to $100 to purchase a laptop, desktop computer, or tablet from participating providers (WCTA does not participate in the one-time discount). Eligible households can enroll through a participating broadband provider or directly with the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) using an online or mail in application. You can learn more about the benefit, including eligibility and enrollment information, by visiting ww.fcc.gov/ACP, or by calling 877-384-2575.

Farm Mental Health and Wellness Program benefits Iowa farmers, rural communities

Iowa farm families and their advocates are benefitting from mental health and stress assistance as well as other wellness support, thanks to the Farm and Ranch Wellness: Meeting Local Needs program.

In August 2021, the Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship was awarded a $500,000 grant to expand farmer mental health support programs in Iowa. Over the last year, the Department has partnered with Iowa State University Extension and Outreach to help raise awareness about mental health and wellness resources and make them more accessible to farmers and rural communities.

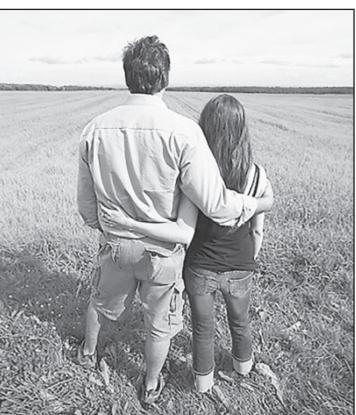

"We want anyone dealing with stress and mental health challenges to know that they are not alone," said Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Mike Naig. "This successful partnership between the department and Iowa State University Extension and Outreach has helped to ensure that mental health and wellness resources are available and accessible to farm families and residents of our rural communities across our state."

Through this grant, ISU Extension and Outreach staff have provided more than 1,500 direct, one-onone local consultations and nearly 6,000 group consultations across the state, sharing key farm stress resources. Individual contacts have been made with veterinarian offices, cooperatives, banks and credit unions, certified public accountants, crop production services, Farm Service Agency offices, Farm Credit Service offices, local seed companies, farm implement dealers, and many others. Group consultations have been offered at Private Pesticide Applicator, Farmland Leasing, and Annie's Project meetings, as well as to county extension councils and Rotary clubs, among others. During these consultations and meetings, more than 25,000 farm stress resource publications have been shared.

"What is important is that we put a list of exceptional resources into the hands of individuals and businesses who could most benefit," said David Brown, behavioral health state specialist with ISU Extension and Outreach. "Our farmers, ranchers and producers are still being impacted by the lingering effects of COVID-19, drought and high input costs, and can still benefit from stress assistance and other forms of support."

One of those resources is the Iowa Concern hotline. The program began of Food and Agriculture ber serving the agricultural 70035-35720. community during the farm crisis of the time. Imprecatory Prayer: Asking God to Smite Your Enemies

An "imprecation" is a curse, and thus imprecatory prayer is one where we ask God to curse, smite or otherwise harm our enemies. There is not much Biblical justification for asking God to smite one's enemies, and much to recommend against it, including Jesus' command to love one's enemies. But, there are a few Old Testament examples of imprecatory prayer, including David asking God to smite his enemies in Psalms 35 and 109. Psalm 35 is basically a prayer asking God to help one in fighting one's ene mies: "Contend, LORD, with those who contend with me; fight against those who fight against me." (Psalm 35: 1) Psalm 109 starts out with some relatively mild curses, and then progresses to more serious ones: "May his days be few; may another take his place of leadership. May his children be fatherless and his wife a widow. May his children be wandering beggars; may they be driven from their ruined homes." (Psalm 109:8-10) But, are we to take this Psalm as an indication that God favors this kind of prayer, or is this Psalm simply characterizing a vengeful man? It is only natural for people to call upon God in times of trouble, and that trouble may take the form of someone attacking us, so these prayers are not necessarily a sign of bad character. On the other hand, a true saint would pray to help their enemies rather than to harm them

"You have heard that it was said, 'Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, that you may be children of your Father in heaven.' – Matthew 5: 43-45

Yes, it's October and yes, October is fall not summer but it's still not too late to grill! The cooler days make it more pleasant to stand over a hot grill than on a 98 degree day in July. Char-Broil® makes an excellent series of grills and accessories. They have been in business since 1948 so they know their stuff. Everybody Grills! S00 Prize-Worthy Recipes to Put Sizzle On Your Grill (2008; Federal Marketing Corp, Upper Saddle River, N.J.) is their large, thick, beautifully illustrated cookbook that takes grilling from novice attempts at simple cuisine to more complicated recipes for the adventuresome expert outdoor cook. The recipes use various types of equipment including gas grills, infrared grills and charcoal grills. Since many people LOVE ribs on the grill or smoker, the following recipes are adapted from the chapter on Pork.

Asian-Style Baby Back Ribs

- Asian Barbecue Sauce: makes 3 cups 6 cloves garlic, minced Juice of 3 large limes 2 tablespoons minced ginger 1 cup hoisin sauce 8 hot peppers, minced including seeds 1/4 cup honey 4 small whole green onions, minced 1/2 cup wine vinegar 1/4 cup cilantro, minced 1/4 cup Thai fish sauce
- 1 tablespoon grated lime zest
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil

Stir all these ingredients together, combining well.

2 whole racks baby back ribs. Remove the silver skin from the back of the ribs. Coat them evenly with one-half of the barbecue sauce. Place in a large plastic bag and marinate in the refrigerator for at least an hour or. better vet, overnight. Preheat the grill to medium (325 degrees F.) and oil the grates. Remove the ribs from the fridge 30 minutes before putting them on the grill. Cook, covered, for 45 minutes, turning once. Test for tenderness as you go along, basting the meat with the reserved sauce for the first 30 minutes. Remove from grill and cut into individual ribs to serve with more sauce at the table.

Montreal Jerk Ribs 2 racks of baby back ribs Montreal Jerk Rub: 2 tablespoons dried minced onion 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

1 tablespoon onion powder

- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 4 teaspoons ground thyme
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons kosher salt
- 2 teaspoons black pepper
- 2 teaspoons ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon cayenne

Mix all together by placing in a small jar with a tight-fitting lid and shaking well. Do this each time you use the rub to make sure all the spices are blended. Rub this mixture over all surfaces of the ribs. Preheat the grill to medium heat using an indirect method. Grill the ribs for 90 minutes, turning occasionally, until they are very tender. Cut into one or two-rib portions to serve. NOTE: if it's raining, you can roast the ribs in a 350 degree F. oven for 90 minutes instead of grilling. You'll miss some of the grill flavor but they will be delicious anyway.

Kansas City-Style Barbeque Sauce

- Here's a great all-purpose sauce you can use on burgers, steaks, ribs or chicken. 1 small onion, chopped
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 2 large cloves garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil 1 teaspoon smoked paprika
- 1 cup ketchup
- 1 teaspoon cayenne
- 1/3 cup molasses
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/4 cup white vinegar
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 tablespoons chili powder

Sauté the onion and garlic in the oil over medium-low heat until the onions are soft; watch that the garlic doesn't burn. Add the remaining ingredients and simmer for 30 minutes until somewhat thickened. NOTE: if using this sauce on barbequed chicken, grill the chicken until almost done and paint on the sauce at the end. Because of the amount of sugar in the recipe, it will burn if left on the grill too long. Serve the sauce on the table to top burgers, hot dogs etc.

Cooking over fire is an ancient way to preparing meat. Our modern grills and smokers make it painless if we watch the fire, keep the grill clean to avoid burned tastes from old grease and don't peek if you're smoking meat in a covered smoker or grill. Add a few simple side dishes and sit back to enjoy the compliments! And...that's all she wrote.

Julseth inducted into 4-H Hall of Fame

Iowa 4-H Hall of Fame were recognized at this year's Iowa State Fair, along with others throughout the state that have been recognized with the honor. Honored for his contributions to Worth County 4-H was Peter Julseth.

From the Iowa 4-H Foundation:

"The Iowa 4-H Foundation sponsors the annual Iowa 4-H Hall of Fame induction ceremony at the Iowa State Fair. Counties nominate volunteers. community leaders. and Extension staff members who have exemplified outstanding service and dedication to the 4-H youth program in their county. The Iowa 4-H Hall of Fame was established in 2002 as 4-H celebrated 100 years of a program dedicated to teaching youth life skills. During those 100 years, it became evident that one of the essential elements of the 4-H program was the caring adults who were committed to the program.

"Inductees into the Iowa 4-H Hall of Fame represent the many people in Iowa who have contributed countless hours to the 4-H program. They work tirelessly to see that Iowa's youth have a great learning experience in a safe and fun environment. community including the These adults have modeled annual county Cancer Relay

The latest additions to the volunteerism, community for Life and especially the service, integrity, and leadership to Iowa's youth. Their legacy is the young people they have mentored who will in turn support the continuation of a 4-H program that has motivated his sons builds Iowa's leaders."

"Peter Julseth has been a loyal volunteer to the Worth County 4-H program in multiple ways. He is serving as a long-time 4-H club leader of the Brookfield Boosters 4-H Club and is a member of the Worth County 4-H Committee. Peter has served more than 20 years and multiple terms as treasurer of the Worth County Extension Council. He can also be found volunteering for 4-H at the Worth County Fair including hundreds of hours this past vear taking food orders at the 4-H Food Stand.

"Peter has stepped up and been a 4-H chaperone at numerous county, state and national 4-H events including several times as a volunteer chaperone at State 4-H Conference, Washington D.C. Citizenship Trip, 4-H dances, Chicago 4-H Record Book Award Trip and the State Capitol 4-H Legislative Day. Peter is an extremely responsible and dedicated individual who has been serving in a multitude of ways in his local Worth County 4-H program. Peter's commitment to young people and youth education is commendable.

"As a 4-H parent, Peter Nathanial and Denton to serve the Worth County 4-H program in various capacities. Nathanial is presently serving as a superintendent of the county fair 4-H sheep show and this past year he chaperoned 4-Her's on the Worth County 4-H Washington D.C. Trip in March. Denton has been a perennial supporter of the State 4-H Conference by transporting 4-H members' luggage to Ames and volunteering every year as a 4-H chaperone."

Julseth joins a long list of Worth County Hall of Fame inductees, including Susan and Darrin Kliment, Rhonda and Mark Taylor, Curt Schaub, Jerry Hopperstad, Mary Clagett, Myra and Lonnie Harris, Jayne Lupkes, Paul Ferley, Florence Ferden, Alan Stevens, Gay Schneider, Timen Brunsvold, Gloria Helgeson & Joan Dierenfeld, Fran Olson, Edward Kruger and Ellis Schaub, Buck and Beverly Pangburn, Dixie Scherff, Norm and Marlene Backhaus and Dennis Johnson.

Grafton 4-H needs youth . . . 'Let's get fired up

On Sunday, November 6, the Worth County Extension Service and 4-H leaders of the Grafton Green Clovers 4-H Club will be hosting a public "4-H Fire-Up" at the Grafton Community Center at 5 p.m. in the afternoon. This special, informational meeting will help educate Grafton area families about the importance of 4-H and what it can bring to their lives.

The atmosphere that day will be informal so, those interested are invited to dress casual, enjoy some refreshments and come ready to learn all about the opportunities that the 4-H program can offer youth. Organizers hope everyone will want to consider joining this leadership, citizenship and communication building experience.

More information about the meeting is available by calling the Worth County Extension Service at 641-324 1531.

Savvy Senior Home sharing: A growing trend among Baby Boomers

Dear Savvy Senior,

I saw a news segment on television a few months ago about home sharing programs for seniors and would like to learn more. I'm 68, divorced, and am interested in renting out a room in my house to help make ends meet. What can you tell me?

Interested Boomer

Dear Boomer,

Because of inflation and rising housing costs a growing number of baby boomers are opting to rent out a spare room in their house as a way to generate some extra income, and for some, increase companionship. To find a good fit, older homeowners often turn to "home sharing programs" that will match an empty nester with someone needing affordable housing.

But be aware that home sharing isn't for everyone. You need to carefully consider the pros and cons of renting out a spare room in your house and make a list of what you want and don't want in a housemate/renter.

To help you figure all this out, a good resource is SharingHousing.com, a website dedicated to understanding the home sharing concept. They offer various articles, online lessons and resource books that can help you determine if this is a good option for you, and if so, how to find and choose a good housemate.

Home Sharing Tools

If you decide to proceed in finding a housemate/ renter, a good first step is to seek out a home sharing program in your area.

Home sharing programs, usually nonprofits, screen both homeowners and renters. They check references, handle background checks and consider lifestyle criteria when making matches. They can also help you with the leasing agreement that the renter would sign that covers detailed issues like smoking, pets, chores, overnight guests, use of common rooms, quiet hours, etc.

Most home sharing programs are free to use or request a small donation. Others, however, may charge the homeowner and potential renter a fee for this service. To look for a home sharing program in your area visit the National Shared Housing Resource Center website atNationalSharedHousing.org.

If you don't find a program that serves your area, you can also search for housemates through an online home sharing service like Silvernest. com. Or, if you'd rather have a younger housemate that can help out with some household chores, consider Nesterly.com. This is an online home sharing agency, available in a few select communities, that matches young renters with older adults looking to supplement their incomes and share

Echoes from the Loafers' Club Meeting

I miss full-service gas stations. Why?

When the guy asked me if I wanted my pickup truck filled up, I'd reply, "No, I'm not the King of England."

Driving by Bruce's drive

I have a wonderful neighbor named Bruce. Whenever I pass his drive, thoughts occur to me. It's the time of the year when crossing gourds help young pumpkins cross roads safely. The seasons change as if directed by a masterful magician's sleight of hand. It snowed in my yard on October 13. I was walking while dressed in a T-shirt and shorts (because I'm an idiot) when the snow joined me. The heat index was of little concern. A flock of dark-eyed juncos moved like blowing leaves on the grass, the white sides of their tails were evident in flight. The famed snowbirds brought the snow with them. The snow wasn't trackable. On October 14, the water in the birdbath had an icy ceiling. It's Mother Nature's job to keep us hoping and guessing.

My car insurance company isn't one of the funny ones, but they handled my hail insurance claim nicely. I took my car for a drive to see if it handled differently without dents. I saw a sign on a man's lawn. It read, "I'm an (epithet). I'm not running for office. I just wanted my own sign."

A lift

I entered an elevator in a towering building. I recalled having bad boyhood dreams about wearing a necktie and working in tall buildings one day.

Ponderings from the Batt Cave

By Al Batt writer, speaker, storyteller and humorist.

I curtailed my recollections when a man wearing a necktie got in the crowded elevator. He had an authoritative air, if you can get into an elevator with an authoritative air without being an elevator repairman, and bellowed, "Ninth floor!"

There was no "please" included and not a hint of a smile. He carried no pompoms, so he wasn't a cheerleader for that floor. He glared at us. Did he think we were a group of elevator operators? He repeated his order in a gruff voice that was both demanding and threatening. He wanted it done in a jiffy. A jiffy is 1/100 of a second.

A security guard pressed the 21st floor button for him.

I got off on the 7th floor and watched a guy ahead of me walk with his head down while texting. He kept walking and texting until he ran smack dab into a wall.

Travel is entertaining.

I've learned

Monkey bars seemed nice, but they had a treacherous side.

Texting with a landline phone is difficult.

The chances of becoming lost with Gilligan, the Skipper too, a millionaire and his wife, a movie star, the Professor and Mary Ann are slim.

I don't know how most things work.

Sometimes the answer is a bigger hammer.

Nature notes

Boxelder bugs are true bugs and belong to the same family as stink bugs, cicadas and other insects with piercing and sucking mouthparts. Adult boxelder bugs are black with orange or red markings. In late summer and fall, boxelder bugs leave the trees where they were feeding to find protected areas for the winter. They may stain draperies and other light-colored surfaces and produce an unpleasant odor when crushed. They like warm areas and are attracted to buildings with a large southern or western exposure and find buildings standing taller than surrounding structures or isolated on flat land enticing. Boxelder bugs are harmless. They don't bite or sting, they're not attracted to food, they aren't the alligators of the insect world, there isn't a single instance of anyone being mugged by a boxelder bug, they don't lay eggs in our homes or eat our fabrics. Compared to multi-colored Asian lady beetles, boxelder bugs are welcome houseguests. Masking or duct tape applied over any small opening will keep the insects from entering. A vacuum cleaner is an effective method of removing the sluggish, slow-moving bugs from the house. Box elder bugs suck the juices out of leaves and the developing seeds of boxelder and maple trees, but they don't siphon enough to hurt the trees. They winter in cozy crevices around your house and eat nothing during that time. Boxelder bugs can release bad-smelling/ tasting chemicals to discourage predators. Like other insects with similar capabilities (monarch butterflies), they have bright orange or red markings to warn off predators. If you want them off the outside of your home, you could spray the boxelder bugs with a homemade concoction of 1/2 cup of laundry detergent mixed with 1 gallon of water and it would do them no good. Repeat the treatment as needed.

Meeting adjourned

Kindness makes more sense.

An accident that caused much regret occurred Friday when a passing automobile ran over and killed the fine dog, Billy, bellowing to Donald Kepler. It happened about our o'clock in the afternoon. While no one saw the accident it is believed that Billy had been chasing and playing with the squirrels that live in the trees in the Kepler yard, and ran after on which had crossed the street. The automobile struck it on the shoulder and neck. It died a few minutes later, Billy was a general favorite with the children of the neighborhood.

Excellent choices include wheat, oat or soybean straw, and chopped cornstalks can also be used. Leaves typically make a poor-quality mulch, because they often mat together and they are prone to moisture and freezing issues.

"Plastic covers work well and are becoming more popular due to ease of placement and removal," said Slack. "Use a thicker plastic and make sure the edges are weighed or tied down to keep heat in."

Strawberry buds will perish below 20 degrees Fahrenheit, which can mean no fruit for June-bearing cultivars. After winter, the flower buds are sensitive to temperatures below 32 F or lower. The best time to remove any cover from the strawberries is after the threat of frost is over.

Slack is part of a research project at Iowa State to further evaluate strawberry cultivars and their ability to overwinter successfully. The research, conducted by the perennial fruit program, is aimed at providing more insight into fall strawberry plantings and provide more options for growers.

Last week was Fire Prevention Week. For Northwood-Kensett Elementary students that meant special activities and visitors. On Thursday, members of the Northwood Volunteer Fire Company paid visits to several N-K Elementary classrooms, where they discussed how young people should be prepared for fires and how they should react if a fire occurs. Students in second grade classrooms also learned firsthand about how they may encounter NVFC members on rescue calls. For Josh Stevens, son of Tom and Amber Stevens, that meant that his classmates got to watch as the NVFC members showed how he would be immobilized and transported to a waiting ambulance in an emergency situation.

When Brian Nugent was invited to take part in the Make A Wish Foundation's 25th anniversary in Iowa, he was happy to have a way to give back to the agency that had provided him with some truly memorable experiences. Nugent, a 2007 graduate of Northwood-Kensett High School, first became involved with the Make A Wish Foundation when he was chosen as one of the children to have their wish granted.

Students Northin wood-Kensett fourth grade classes welcomed a few special visitors last Friday. A group of 4-H'ers visited their classroom to share information about Worth County 4-H. Each 4-H member told about their involvement and experiences in 4-H. They also presented a "slideshow," during which these three 4-H members reenacted scenes of 4-H activities, like the ski trip recreated here.

Twenties Club meets on October 10

Twenties Club met on Monday, Oct. 10, at the Olson Room with 16 members present. Becky Hickman, president, called the meeting to order. Roll call was done by Becky Tews, secretary, with Delores Knudson reading a food tidbit. Delores Knudson, treasurer, gave her report.

In old business, it was reported that volunteers had delivered Meals on Wheels in September and all went well with that.

In new business, the annual Senior Tea will be on Wednesday, April 19 at the Olson Room. The group will meet in the morning at 10 a.m. to set up. The December meeting will be a cookie swap and each member is to bring two dozen cookies. This meeting will be at the home of Delores Knudson.

Becky Hickman adjourned the meeting.

Sandy Hyde gave a program on Scottish foods and prepared samples for the club to try.

The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 7 at 7 p.m. at the Olson room.

On Wednesday evening the Bolan Trinity Church Family met at the Joe Nydegger home.

Late Thursday afternoon Linda Nydegger drove to Lake Mills to see Joslyn Koppen, who is a member of the 8th grade volleyball team from North Iowa Middle School, play against the Lake Mills eighth grade team. Joslyn's sister, Jenna, who lives in Des Moines, also came for the game.

On Saturday afternoon Lori Willert and Linda Nydegger visited Gretchen Northrup of Huxley, who they have kept in contact with since the Iowa 150 Ride in 1995. They then drove to Des Moines to pick up Kelsie Willert and continued to Waukee, Iowa, to see the band competitions. Mt. Vernon High School, of which Ben and Clare Nydegger are a part of; Ben in the Drum Line and Clare is one of three Drum Majors. At this competition, Class 3A, the Mt. Vernon Mustangs did win best Drum Majors, received a second as an overall score, and a second for the Drum Line. An Awesome performance.

During Bolan Trinity Worship Service Pastor Appreciation Sunday was observed. Pastor Cory received cards and gifts from the Church Family.

In all of sports there is probably no other game that is more difficult to adjust to a new head coach than high school football. There is just no way around it. after a coach with 30 plus years on the sidelines hangs up his whistle, it could take three or four years for the program to find its footing again, but that's exactly what we expect out of the Vikings of Northwood-Kensett after suffering through one of their worst seasons in recent memory,

Lady Vikings get back in the win column at West Hancock

By Mike Simmons Sports Editor

The Northwood-Kensett volleyball team got the win it was looking for, beating West Hancock 2-0 in last Thursday night's volleyball triangular in Britt, giving the Lady Vikings a much-needed boost heading into the regional tournament.

N-K also headed to Buffalo Center last Tuesday night and were sent back home to Northwood after suffering a 3-0 (15-25, 13-25, 9-25) loss at the hands of the Lady Bison.

Normally, the Lady Vikings start off slow and by the third set, win or lose, they are at their best, but on this night, they came out swinging and put up their best fight in the opening set, a close 25-15 loss.
