Relay For Life postponed

The Relay For Life of Worth County, originally set for Saturday, June 6, has been indefinitely postponed.

While the Relay will not be held as scheduled, organizers note that cancer can not be postponed and alternative options to raise funds for the fight against cancer are in the works.

On that note, organizers are looking for suggestions for appropriate ideas, that allow for social distancing, to celebrate survivors and honor those lost to cancer, while raising funds to support the fight against the disease.

Those interested may find more information and updates on alternate plans and suggest alternative activities on Facebook by searching for the Relay For Life of Worth County, IA.

A quarantiny celebration

Harris Waller, thanks to his parents, celebrated his first birthday recently. While it couldn't be the big gathering that Harris and his family would have liked, they still had fun with the decorations, and didn't let the unusual circumstances impact his birthday smile.

Financial impacts begin to be felt by local governments

At recent meetings, local governments have discussed the potential financial impact of the COVID-19 shutdowns, as they prepare for a lack of revenue from a variety of sources that are affected when people are encouraged to stay home and businesses aren't allowed to open.

While a large portion of the budgets of Worth County and the cities and schools therein, come from property taxes, there are other funds, such as sales taxes, fuel taxes, road fees and, especially significant locally, casino revenue, that will take a bigger hit with more than two months of a State-ordered pandemic shutdown.

One of the biggest employers in the community, and one that also generates significant revenue for local governments and community groups as a part of its licensing agreement is the Diamond Jo Casino.

The Diamond Jo Casino shares portions of its revenue in several ways. That includes funds given to the WCDA, with money dispersed to local schools, grants, scholarships and to Worth County.

Worth County and cities in the county also receive 0.5 percent of casino revenue.

The casino has been closed since March 17, for six weeks as of today, April 29. Earlier this week, Iowa Governor

New proclamation opens elective procedures, farmers markets, elections

On Friday, Iowa Governor Kim Reynolds issued a new proclamation that eased some restrictions, which opened some medical procedures, as well as farmers markets under specific guidelines and for specific purposes. Exemptions were also established for election purposes.

Last Friday's proclamation allows hospitals and outpatient procedure providers to perform outpatient procedures, as well as inpatient procedures that, if delayed, would have a significant impact on a patient's quality of life.

Facilities may only proceed with the procedures if they meet five requirements.

They must have adequate inventory of personal protective equipment (PPE) and access to additional PPE that does not rely on state or local government stockpiles. They must also have PPE on hand to respond to unexpected surges in a timely manner, as well as a plan to conserve PPE that meets Centers for Disease Control and Iowa Department of Public Health guidelines.

Facilities must have a plan for the testing of patients and staff with COVID-19 symptoms to rapidly mitigate infections. Further, patients should have a negative COVID-19 test result within 48 hours of a scheduled surgery, or, when tests aren't available, there should be other methods in place to determine if there is a probability of COVID-19 exposure. If any symptoms are present, according to the proclamation, it is recommended that surgery be postponed.

Any hospital that undertakes the procedures must continue to accept COVID-19 patients and can't transfer those patients to make room for elective procedures.

Hospitals must also reserve 30% of ICU

Missing man found in river nearby

A man missing in the Winnebago River in western Worth County has been found after nearly four weeks of search efforts.

On March 27, the Worth County Sheriff's Office responded to a call that Adam VanSyoc, 43, of Mason City, had gone missing while fishing in the river near 342nd Street between Finch and Grouse avenues, near Fertile.

According to the man fishing with VanSyoc, their boat had become entangled in cables across the river, which were in place from an old foot bridge.

Iowa restaurants, churches amongst places set to reopen Friday, while others remain closed

On Monday, Iowa Governor Kim Reynolds announced that, starting this Friday, May 1, at 5 a.m., some businesses and gathering places would be able to reopen, as long as they meet specific requirements. The openings would be done on a county by county basis.

On May 1, in 77 Iowa counties, including Worth County, restaurants, fitness centers, libraries, malls and other stores that had previously been ordered to close their doors to customers may re-open.

The exceptions, which must remain closed, include bars, theaters, casinos and gaming facilities, social and fraternal clubs (including the VFW, American Legion and golf course clubhouses locally), senior citizen centers and adult daycares, amusements (including bingo halls, bowling alleys, pool halls, arcades and amusement parks), museums, aquariums, zoos, skating rinks and parks, playgrounds, campgrounds, pools, salons, barbershops, medical spas, tattoo establishments,

Three contenders vie for District 2 supervisor

By Erin McCord

Three candidates are competing to represent the Republican Party in the November election for a seat on the Worth County Board of Supervisors, representing District 2.

"We've gotten a lot done in the past two years."

Current District 2 supervisor Mark Smeby, 59, said the job of supervisor was bigger than he thought when he was first elected in 2016, but that he has grown into it.

Smeby said the board has accomplished many thing during his tenure.

Currently, they have been working on reclassifying drainage districts and plans are being made for repairs to bring the drainage systems up to code.

A big project that the supervisors have been overseeing is the development of the land on the southwest side of the Interstate 35 and Highway 105 interchange. Smeby said there is more county-owned property that could be developed after the current project is completed.

Smeby is also active on several boards, including Iowa Workforce Development, where he has been working on forming new regions that "will be more efficient and effective."

Smeby lives near Joice with his wife of 36 years, Lori, where he farms. Smeby and Lori have two children and four grandchildren.

and 30% of its medical/surgical beds for COVID-19 patients.

Finally, any facility that begins offering elective procedures must establish a plan to stop if they can no longer comply with the other requirements.

When elective procedures are resumed, the proclamation also requires that only personnel essential to the process be allowed in surgery and procedure suites and patient care areas.

Besides opening elective medical procedures, the proclamation also excluded farmer's markets from the restrictions on mass gatherings that were put in place in earlier emergency proclamations.

Like the elective procedures, there are a number of requirements farmers markets must meet to be allowed to reopen.

The only items that vendors can sell at the markets are farm products and food. Those individual vendor areas must be set up at least six feet apart.

There can be no entertainment or other activities that could encourage gathering spectators.

There can also be no picnic tables or other dining areas set up at the markets or by specific vendors for customers to eat food at the market.

Markets must implement measures to ensure that all social distancing, hygiene and other public health measures can be observed.

Under the proclamation all farmers market customers are also encouraged to follow COVID-19 mitigation behaviors, such as social distancing, wearing a mask, practicing good hygiene and attending the market alone without other family members.

Also addressed in the proclamation are elections, namely exemptions from prohibitions that may have created conflicts for voters and election officials.

According to the proclamation, the limitations on mass gatherings shall not be applied in a way that would stop anyone from voting, or from attending training for precinct election officials.

The proclamation also notes that the previous closure of school buildings in the state does not include those facilities' use as polling places.

Iowans encouraged to take Test Iowa Challenge

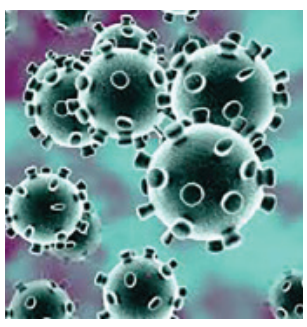

Last week, an online resource to help assess the spread of COVID-19 in Iowa and connect Iowans with testing, if they qualify, was announced by Iowa Governor Kim Reynolds.

Reynolds launched the Test Iowa Initiative to expand testing capacity to limit the spread of COVID-19 in Iowa. The state is partnering with Nomi Health and its subsidiary DOMO, which has already launched a similar initiative in the state of Utah.

"Iowa is now the second state in the nation to deploy this ambitious initiative, and starting today I am encouraging Iowans to go to testIowa.com to complete their own health assessment," said Reynolds. "This type of information will help Iowans assess eligibility for testing and further inform the state's response to COVID-19."

The Test Iowa Initiative includes an assessment that was developed in coordination with the Iowa Department of Public Health and it will better inform Iowans of their current health status, whether or not they should get a COVID-19 test and instructions on how to get tested. The assessment asks for information that includes a name, address, age, height and weight, and existing symptoms and occupational considerations.

Reynolds also kicked off the #TestIowaChallenge in a video encouraging Iowans to go to testIowa.com and complete the assessment. The #TestIowaChallenge encourages all Iowans regardless of symptoms to take the assessment and get tested if needed. Those that are part of the essential workforce are especially encouraged to take the assessment and then get tested if needed.

Kim Reynolds announced that casinos would remain closed through at least May 15.

Based on last year's gaming revenue, shared with the Iowa Racing and Gaming Commission, the 5.76 percent of gaming revenue allotted to the WCDA totaled roughly $245,000 for half the month of March, $430,000 in April and $440,000 in May. Assuming gaming revenue would have stayed relatively constant, that could mean an approximate $1.12 million loss in funds for the WCDA, if the casino reopens in June, and not counting any revenue lost with customers wary about returning.

That means the funds for grants, education and scholarships will likely take a hit in the coming year.

For local governments, the IRGC data shows that Worth County received $42,515 directly from casino revenue in March, $37,369 in April and $38,038 in May. Without those months (including half of March's funds), Worth County would have roughly $97,000 less in casino revenue, not counting the portion of WCDA revenue given to the County.

Worth County cities would also have received roughly $97,000 in the weeks that the casino has and will be closed, divided amongst them on a per capita basis.

While the full effect on local government budgets hasn't been seen as yet, the potential impact of the loss in casino funds has led the City of Northwood to be more cautious with its planned spending. At a recent meeting, the city council approved an annual transfer of casino funds to the city's program used to encourage new housing purchases and construction. The amount transferred was $50,000 less than the previous year, as it was noted that there is uncertainty in future casino revenue.

The City also passed a resolution that temporarily suspends payments from businesses who have borrowed funds from the City as a part of the city's revolving loan fund, used to encourage business development and improvement in the city.

While casino funds will impact all local levels of government in the coming year, a lack of travel with Iowans asked to stay in their homes as much as possible, and a decrease of travel into and through the state means that less revenue collected on gas, licenses and other fees will mean less money coming into Worth County's road use tax funds.

Again, in the midst of the current pandemic situation, the full impact is not known yet, but one summer maintenance activity may be impacted, as Worth County engineer Rich Brumm told the Worth County supervisors recently. He said that his office will be looking at ways to cut back, and one way is thorough control of roadside vegetation. Brumm said that the secondary roads department will focus on the essential control of weeds, but will have to be more conservative when it comes to other vegetation maintenance projects.

For the Northwood-Kensett school district, the extension of property tax payment deadlines may mean that they will have to borrow to make bond payments until the new tax deadline has passed.

These are just a few of the initial considerations being made as local governments see the economic impact locally.

Search efforts began that day and have continued since, using onsite law enforcement and rescue personnel, as well as volunteers and search vehicles and equipment.

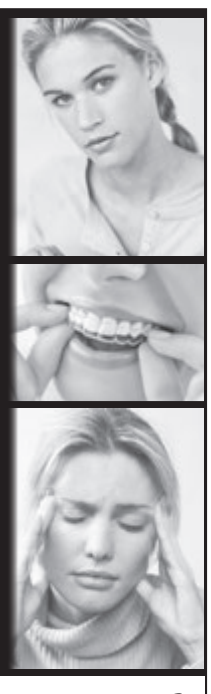

This past Saturday, when the search continued, at approximately 12:10 p.m. in the afternoon, VanSyoc's body was found in the Winnebago River, between where the boat had encountered the cables and Grouse Avenue, less than half a mile away.

The incident remains under investigation by the DNR, to be undertaken at the State Medical Examiner's Office.

The Worth County Sheriff's Office shared its appreciation for all of the volunteers who came out and assisted with the search efforts, as well as the agencies that aided in the search efforts.

Agencies assisting the Worth County Sheriff's Office at the scene included the Iowa State Patrol; Iowa Department of Natural Resources; Winnebago County Sheriff's Office; Cerro Gordo County Sheriff's Office; Hanlontown, Fertile, Northwood, Clear Lake, and Ventura fire departments; Forest City Ambulance; Worth County Emergency Management; Worth County IT; Mercy Air Med; Iowa Underwater Search and Rescue; POET Biorefining; and Worth County Sheriff's Reserves.

Schulte, 61, retired in February from a 40 year career with UPS.

He said he has always had a run as supervisor in the back of his mind, and now he has time to do it.

Schulte lives on the farm he grew up on west of Manly with his wife of 37 years, Jina. They have three daughters and six grandchildren. Schulte previously served two terms on the Manly City Council and one term on the Central Springs school board.

"Serving Worth County has always been part of my life"

Lifelong Northwood area resident Gary Hanson, 64, has held many positions in the area and feels that supervisor is the next step.

Hanson was a 4-H leader for 15 years; on the Worth County Fair Board for 22 years; served as president of Worth County Beautification; and worked on the Vote Yes campaign for approval of the casino for two years. Hanson also worked for Worth County Secondary Roads for 28 years and farms with his brother-in-law.

Gary has been married to Deb for 40 years and they have three boys and three grandchildren.

Absentee voting for primary underway

Absentee voting began last Thursday for the primary election that will be held on Tuesday, June 2.

In the primary election, voters must choose a Democratic or Republican Party ballot, as they will be choosing who will represent those parties as candidates for county, state and federal offices in the November general election.

With COVID-19 a concern, the Iowa Secretary of State's office extended the time for absentee voting to 40 days to encourage Iowans to take advantage of the alternative to voting in person, by mailing in their ballot. The absentee voting period for mailed ballots in the June primary began on Thursday.

The Secretary of State's office planned to mail absentee ballot request forms to all Iowans in advance of the absentee voting timeframe. The forms will include prepaid postage for return mailing to county auditors.

Iowans can request absentee ballots through May 22. County auditors were to begin mailing ballots on April 23.

For the first time, Iowans who are 17 years old and will be 18 by November 3 can vote in the June primary.

Iowans can register to vote online or download a printable voter registration form at sos.iowa.gov/registertovote or at www.worthcounty.org.

Polling sites will be open for the primary election, but many will be combined with other precincts. In Worth County, there will be one polling place for the primary election. The Kensett Community Center will be the combined voting location on June 2.

Curbside voting is an option for Iowans with disabilities, those who might have trouble entering a polling place and Iowans who are in the Center for Disease Control's at-risk population for COVID-19.

Iowans can download a printable absentee ballot request form online at sos.iowa.gov/elections/pdf/absenteeballotapp.pdf or at the Worth County website, www.worthcounty.org.

More information is available online at VoterReady.Iowa.gov. People may also contact the Worth County Auditor's office at 641-324-2316 for more information.

Sheriff's Department adapts to coronavirus precautions

By Erin McCord

While most people are staying at home to be safe from the coronavirus, others are still hard at work providing necessary services. One of the most prominent services still working to keep peace and order is the Worth County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Dan Fank said that his deputies are taking many precautions to reduce contact with people, such as handling some calls by phone instead of in person and letting rescue personnel handle first contact in rescue calls.

Fank said that the quilt club in Joice donated handmade masks to the department to add to the N95 masks, eyewear and gloves that everyone is equipped with.

Some of the original precautions in the county jail have been relaxed. In-person visits to inmates are being resumed, following a period of only being allowed phone calls. Temperatures are taken and medical questions are asked of anyone visiting.

Finger-printing services have also been slowly resumed. Fank said staff are taking temperatures and using their own judgement to decide whether to provide services.

Other changes Fank noted are an uptick in "neighborhood watch" calls, which Fank attributed to people having much more time to observe their neighbors' actions.

Despite the changes, some things are business as usual. On April 21, Chief Deputy Jesse Luther and Titan were called out to assist the Mitchell County Sheriff's Department to apprehend a fleeing suspect near Carpenter.

With expanded testing, Minnesota opens additional businesses

Last week, Minnesota Governor Tim Walz announced a COVID-19 testing breakthrough that was the key tool to open some businesses starting this past Monday.

In a release, it was announced that the testing, developed with the Mayo Clinic and University of Minnesota, would be designed to test all symptomatic people, isolate confirmed cases and expand public health surveillance tools, with as many as 20,000 Minnesotans tested per day for the presence of COVID-19, as well as 15,000 per day tested to see if they have had the virus and recovered.

The tests will allow the State to better trace infections and trace their origins to mitigate the spread.

The expanded testing will include intensive testing of those vulnerable to the disease, those in congregate living spaces, the homeless, those that serve vulnerable populations, health care workers, those that work in critical infrastructure and those in communities of color and American Indian populations.

Along with that expanded testing, a new website that provides information, also acts as an initial screening interface to help determine if a test is need and provides information on how and where Minnesotans can get tested. The website can be found at mn.gov/covid19/.

With the testing in place, Walz, on April 23, announced plans to allow some businesses to reopen.

As of Monday, those working in industrial, manufacturing and office settings were allowed to resume their jobs.

Those workplaces would have to take several actions before opening.

The businesses have to create, share and implement COVID-19 preparedness plans that set out the actions they are taking to ensure social distancing, worker hygiene and facility cleaning and disinfection.

The businesses must conduct health screenings on employees and ensure that sick employees stay home.

They must also allow and encourage employees to work from home whenever possible.

While those workers will be back on the job, other restrictions remain in place. Minnesota students will end their school year via distance learning.

Minnesota's Stay at Home Order will also remain in place through this Monday, May 4.

tanning facilities, massage establishments and door-to-door sales.

According to Reynolds and Dr. Caitlin Pedati, Medical Director or the Iowa Department of Public Health, data for the 77 counties shows that the number of COVID-19 cases has stabilized or the number of new cases has been dropping for 14 days, per federal re-opening guidelines.

In order to reopen, the businesses must take steps to safely serve customers. That includes limiting people to no more than 50% of a business' capacity and making sure customers and staff stay at least six feet apart. There also must be hygiene and other public health measures in place as appropriate.

In restaurants, that will also include a limit of six people per group. Self-service options, like buffets or salad bars, are not allowed.

Similarly, at fitness centers, workout equipment must be spaced six feet apart and group classes and activities can't include more than 10 people spaced six feet apart.

Besides those businesses reopening, places of worship will be allowed to welcome their congregations in person, without the 10-person social gathering limitation. That will be allowed with the same social distancing, hygiene and public health measures in place.

Wedding and funeral ceremonies will be allowed under the exemption for spiritual gatherings. However, wedding receptions of more than 10 people are still prohibited.

The limits on social gatherings of no more than 10 people remain in place, and all Iowans are encouraged to keep practicing social distancing, good hygiene and other measures suggested by public health officials, including staying at home as much as possible.

The re-opened businesses and lifts on religious gathering restrictions, along with the elective procedures and farmers market openings announced on Friday, remain in place through May 15, when the impacts will be

Let Us Talk

I hope everyone got rid of all that stuff that was hiding in the garage and the basement during clean up days. We still need to talk about trash.

I have had questions about garbage bags and how come people put them out on Friday and the birds and cats scatter the garbage all over long before they are picked up.

Two things about that: the bags should not be put out until Sunday and the property owner is responsible to clean up the mess. Did you know Northwood has a trash ordinance? Here are some highlights:

105.10 Waste Storage Containers.

Every person owning, managing, operating, leasing, or renting any premises, dwelling unit or any place where refuse accumulates shall provide and at all times maintain in good order and repair portable containers for refuse in accordance with the following:

1. The city may authorize the use of specially designed garbage "bags" and shall provide for sale of the same to residents.

2. All owners of residential and commercial premises shall be responsible for proper storage of all garbage and yard waste to prevent materials from being blown or scattered around neighboring yards and streets.

3. Containers or other solid waste placed at the curb line shall NOT be so placed more than twenty-four (24) hours in advance of the regularly scheduled collection day.

As the weather gets nicer, we still need to adapt to the new rules, no groups of more than ten (10) and staying six (6) feet apart. Continue taking care of yourself, your family and your neighbors.

Please take the time to respond to the Census. You can respond online, by phone, as well as by mail. Thank You.

Northwood is a great place to live and work. Together we can all make it even better.

Mayor Northwood

Homes in the making

Spring construction season is in full effect in Northwood. With the arrival of warm weather, these two homes-to-be have begun or are in the midst of construction. Both homes, located on Eighth Street, are part of the City of Northwood's program that offers lots for home construction for $1, as long as houses are built on those lots.

IDALS introduces online pesticide self-service portal

Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Mike Naig announced that pesticide license applications and payments can now be completed online through the Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship's new pesticide self-service portal.

"The online pesticide system modernizes the way the Department receives and processes license applications and payments," said Naig. "This new system is an example of our continued focus on customer service across the Department. It will be especially helpful for applicators who are looking to get certified for this growing season."

The system is available and can be accessed at iowaagriculture.force.com/pesticideapplicator.

How it works

The self-service portal uses each pesticide applicator's unique certification number to match their application and payment to their training and testing history.

To apply for a new or renew an existing pesticide applicator license, individuals will use their certification number to log-in to the self-service portal. The licensee can submit their application, test results and payment online.

Once in-person testing resumes, proctored test locations will use each applicator's unique certification number when uploading the test results to the self-service portal. The portal will link the user's training and testing information to the application and payment records stored in the online system.

Once the application, payment, training and testing information are received, the licenses and certifications will be processed and sent directly to the applicant.

By moving the process online, individual pesticide applicators can access their records anytime by logging into the self-service portal. The system also has a public search function that empowers customers and employers to verify that their pesticide applicators are licensed to work in the state of Iowa.

"This system allows the Department to better serve Iowans by giving them real-time access to information that, historically, was stored in paper files," said Bureau Chief Dr. Gretchen Paluch. "We encourage companies and individuals to take advantage of the new system when applying and renewing their licenses this year."

Information regarding pesticide applicator licensing and certification is available by calling the Pesticide Bureau at the Iowa Department of Agriculture at 515-281-8591 or emailing pesticides@iowaagriculture.gov.

EPA provides critical information to the public about safe disinfectant use

Last week, as questionable suggestions became the focus of national news, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) issued information about the safe use of disinfectants, as well as sharing resources to help find alternatives as disinfectants remain scarce on store shelves.

Below is information in a news release from the EPA last Friday:

"EPA is dedicated to its mission of protecting human health and we want all Americans to have access to effective and approved surface disinfectant products," said Alexandra Dapolito Dunn, assistant administrator of EPA's Office of Chemical Safety and Pollution Prevention. "We also want everyone follow the directions on the product so that we can safely use registered disinfectants and provide critical protection to our families."

When using an EPA-registered surface disinfectant, always follow the product's directions and remember:

• Never apply the product to yourself or others. Do not ingest disinfectant products. This includes never applying any product on List N (the agency's list of disinfectants to use against SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19) directly to food.

• Never mix products unless specified in the use directions. Certain combinations of chemicals will create highly toxic acids or gases.

• Wash the surface with soap and water before applying disinfectant products if the label mentions pre-cleaning.

• Follow the contact time listed for your product on List N. This is the amount of time the surface must remain visibly wet to ensure efficacy against the virus. It can sometimes be several minutes.

• Wash your hands after using a disinfectant. This will minimize your exposure to the chemicals in the disinfectant and the pathogen you are trying to kill.

EPA provides additional information on disinfectant safety messages on its twitter feeds, @EPA and @ChemSafety. These channels will be updated with new materials throughout the COVID-19 crisis.

EPA is also continuing to add additional chemicals to its list of common inert ingredients. These actions are intended to help address supply chain issues for EPA-registered disinfectants and other pesticides. It allows manufacturers of already-registered EPA products to change the source of listed inert ingredients.

To learn more about disinfectant safety, see a guide from our partner, the National Pesticide Information Center, about using disinfectants to control COVID-19: npic.orst.edu/ingred/ptype/amicrob/covid19.html.

Ponderings from the Batt Cave

By Al Batt writer, speaker, storyteller and humorist.

Echoes from the Loafers' Club Meeting

I have only one word for you.

What's that?

Plethora.

Thanks. That means a lot.

Driving by Bruce's drive

I have a wonderful neighbor, named Bruce. Whenever I pass his drive, thoughts occur to me, such as: Studies have found we touch our faces 16-23 times per hour on average. We play tag with ourselves. Gus and Julie Courrier of Emmons sent me a birthday card and useful gift — a single sheet of toilet paper. It wasn't gold-plated, but it was thoughtful.

I love my jobs. The work required heaping amounts of travel. Not anymore. Life changes with bewildering speed. Lockdown has caused me to sleep better and more. There's nothing like sleeping in my own bed. A Sleepopolis study found Minnesotans working from home sleep an extra 15.7 hours per month. The research ranked Minnetrista as the best city for sleeping in Minnesota, while Bemidji came in last. Sleep is impacted by important behavioral, environmental, and lifestyle factors. Air pollution is a major factor. Clive was the best Iowa city for sleeping and Centerville the worst. An anonymous donor gave each household in Earlham, Iowa, gift cards worth $150 each (a $50 gift card each to a local restaurant, grocery store and coffee shop) to ease the burden of social distancing. I'll bet the donor of more than $82,000 was a well-rested person from Clive.

I think Hadacol would make a good name for a baby. Its creator, Dudley LeBlanc of Louisiana who ran the company from 1945 to 1951, when asked the name's origin, said, "Well, I hadda call it something." Hadacol was everywhere — radio, billboards, newspapers, magazines, pharmacies and liquor stores. Ads for the wonder elixir weren't necessarily fact-based. One was: "Two months ago I couldn't read nor write. I took four bottles of Hadacol and now I'm teaching school." Jerry Lee Lewis sang, "The Hadacol Boogie." The patent medicine or snake oil was a mixture of vitamins B-1 and B-2, iron, calcium, niacin, honey, phosphorus and 12% alcohol. They left the mistakes in. It was advertised as a cure for: high blood pressure, ulcers, strokes, asthma, arthritis, diabetes, pneumonia, anemia, cancer, epilepsy, gallstones, heart trouble and hay fever. On the TV show "You Bet Your Life," Groucho Marx asked LeBlanc what Hadacol was good for. LeBlanc quipped "It was good for $5 million for me last year." It went bankrupt shortly after LeBlanc sold it. Maybe it wouldn't make a good name.

The old joke department

A duck walked into a convenience store and asked the clerk, "Do you have any grapes?" The clerk said no and the duck left. The next day, the duck returned and asked, "Do you have any grapes?" The clerk again said no and the duck left. The following day, the duck waddled into the store and asked, "Do you have any grapes?" The clerk screamed at the duck, "You've come in here before asking for grapes. I told you each time, we don't have any grapes! If you come back here again and ask for grapes, I'll nail your feet to the floor!" The duck left, returned the next day and asked, "Do you have any nails?" The clerk replied, "No," and the duck said, "Good. Do you have any grapes?"

I've been binge-reading and enjoyed

"The Sinking Of The Eastland: America's Forgotten Tragedy" by Jay Bonansinga. A story about the sinking of the excursion boat Eastland on the Chicago River in 1915. There were 844 casualties. "A Hero Nonetheless: Albert Miller Lea, 1808-1891" by Robert M Merryman. The city and lake of Albert Lea were named after this Confederate Army major. "David and Goliath: Underdogs, Misfits, and the Art of Battling Giants" by Malcolm Gladwell. An examination of success, motivation and the role of adversity in shaping lives. "The Dog of the South" by Charles Portis. Portis was the author of "True Grit." No cowboys in this one.

Nature notes

"I heard a professor in Wisconsin say golden eagles are much larger than bald eagles. Is that right?" The two are about the same size with the females being larger. Bald eagles are slightly longer on average than golden eagles. Their average weights are about the same, with the heaviest birds being balds. The wingspan of the two species are 6 to 7.5 feet. In a slightly related note, the Guinness Book of World Records lists the largest bald eagle nest on record as being found in St. Petersburg, Florida. It was 9.6 feet in diameter, 20 feet deep, and estimated to weigh 4,409 pounds.

Ombudsman urges vigilance in reporting child abuse

Ombudsman Kristie Hirschman is calling upon the public to stay on guard against child abuse, citing numbers from the Iowa Department of Human Services (DHS) that abuse allegations have fallen sharply since the COVID-19 pandemic prompted leaders to close schools.

Child-abuse reports to DHS fell from 5,033 in February to 4,209 in March, a drop of more than 16 percent. Most schools in Iowa closed in mid-March. This March's numbers were also well below those of March 2019, when 4,813 reports were made. States all across the country are reporting even sharper decreases in April. Thus far in Iowa this April, less than half as many child-abuse reports were made when compared to the same period in 2019.

Child advocates believe the lower numbers are due to the abrupt break in relations between students and mandatory reporters such as teachers, school nurses and day-care workers.

In other words, it is unlikely that physical and psychological mistreatment of children is disappearing; instead, it is believed that some child abuse is simply going unnoticed. Advocates fear that social distancing, recommended by communicable disease experts for legitimate health reasons, could make detection of child abuse even more difficult.

"Please do not let social distancing be an excuse to engage in social isolation," Hirschman urged. "Each and every one of us needs to be vigilant and supportive of our neighbors, friends and families. We owe that to Iowa's children."

The Ombudsman's recent public report on the starvation death of 16-year-old Natalie Finn and its pending report on the death of 16-year-old Sabrina Ray highlight the importance of a watchful community to keep kids safe, Hirschman said. DHS and the Ombudsman encourage anyone who believes a child is in immediate danger to call 911. People who suspect child abuse or dependent adult abuse can call DHS' abuse hotline 24 hours a day at (800) 362-2178.

April is also National Child Abuse Prevention Month. Hirschman recently joined 10 children's ombudsmen from around the United States in a statement asking for the public's help to safeguard children and to keep parents positively engaged during the COVID-19 crisis.

Wear the world loosely

The idea of wearing the world loosely is meant to convey the idea that we should take things in stride and give up our rigidly held ideas about how things should be. No doubt things are unfolding exactly as they should, and our limited minds cannot always see the big picture. On the surface, and to our egocentric points of view, things often seem wrong or even absurd, but often we cannot comprehend the larger picture, nor do we always know the purpose that God has for us in the world. We should strive to trust in God and try to do his will with a sense of resignation for all the messiness and seeming injustice in the world. And this doesn't mean that we just give up, but rather that we try to be effective in the world while also realizing that we are finite, limited creatures with narrow views and debilitating weaknesses. Wearing the world loosely entails moving through the world with ease and the realization that much of what we do will not reach the goals which we had in mind, and yet God is still in his heaven and all is right with the world. –Christopher Simon

"Wear the world as a loose garment, which touches us in a few places and there lightly."
– St. Francis of Assisi

Cook Bookin'

We may live without poetry, music and art; We may live without conscience and live without heart; We may live without friends; we may live without books; But a civilized man cannot live without cooks.

Bulwer Lytton, Edward Robert

by Sandy Olson

To contact Sandy Olson for comments or suggestions, please email her at: midwestfoodie@gmail.com

I was able to do some traveling this past winter into the deep south. In Mississippi I came across an unusual book that brings back old-fashioned and sometimes lost recipes for southern cuisine. The "Southern Cookbook of Fine Old Recipes" was first printed by Litho Printers of Cassville, Missouri in 1965, then revised in 2008. While we are hunkered down at home there is often more time to actually cook so one of these time-honored dessert recipes might fill the bill.

Orange Hot Milk Sponge Cake

1 cup sifted cake flour
3 eggs
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons orange juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
6 tablespoons milk, scalded

Sift together the cake flour, baking powder and salt. Set aside. Beat the eggs, sugar, orange juice and peel together until thick and softly piled. Sift the dry ingredients over the egg mixture, about 1/4 at a time and after each addition gently fold in until just blended. After all the flour is folded in, add the hot milk all at one time and quickly mix just until smooth. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Pour the cake batter into an ungreased 9-inch tube pan and bake for about 40 minutes or until it tests done with a toothpick. Remove from the oven and immediately invert the pan. Let the cake cool hanging upside down in the pan. Remove and frost the sides and top with Orange Butter Frosting (recipe follows). SANDY'S NOTE: you can scald the milk in the microwave, 1 minute at a time watching so it doesn't boil.

Orange Butter Frosting

1/2 cup unsalted real butter, softened
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons real vanilla extract
1 pasteurized egg yolk
4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons orange juice
2-3 drops orange food coloring
Grated orange peel

Cream the butter, vanilla and salt together until smooth. Gradually add the sugar, beating until smooth after each addition. Beat in the egg yolk. Slowly add the orange juice, using only enough to make the frosting the right consistency for spreading. Blend in the food coloring. After frosting the cake, sprinkle with some grated orange peel. SANDY'S NOTE: Since there is an uncooked egg yolk in this recipe, it's safer to buy a carton of pasteurized eggs.

Prunella Cake

2/3 cup pitted prunes
1 1/3 cups sifted flour
1 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup shortening such as Crisco®
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
2/3 cup buttermilk

Cover the prunes with the boiling water in a saucepan. Cover the pan and let them soak for 1 hour. Then, simmer the prunes in their water for about 30 minutes until the fruit is plump and tender. Drain and cool slightly. Cut the prunes into small pieces with a scissors. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Blend the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg in a large bowl. Set aside. In another bowl, beat the shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add the eggs, in thirds, beating well after each addition. Then, alternately add the dry ingredients and buttermilk, again in thirds. Pour batter into a lightly greased 9" square baking pan. Bake for 40-45 minutes or until it tests done. Serve with real whipped cream or vanilla ice cream. You may also add 1/2 chopped pecans to the batter if desired.

Short'nin' Bread

I had no idea that "shortnin' bread" was actually a cookie! I remember a song when I was a child about kids eating short'nin' bread and it never sounded very tasty…like Crisco® spread on sandwich bread.

4 cups sifted flour
1 pound real butter, softened
1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar

Mis the flour and sugar together thoroughly. Add the butter and work it in until a smooth dough is formed. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and pat to 1/2-inch thickness. If necessary, chill the dough to make it easier to work with. Cut the dough into desired shapes: circles, squares etc. Preheat the oven to 325 degrees F. Place the cookies on parchment-lined cookie sheets and bake about 25 minutes or until delicately browned. Leave cookies on sheets to cool for 8 minutes then transfer to cooling racks. Makes 3-4 dozen cookies.

One of the most wonderful parts of being able to travel is trying regional and ethnic foods. At the time this cookbook was first printed there was no thought about healthy eating; you just ate and enjoyed! It's sad that the freedom to happily cook and eat has slipped away in many instances. And…that's all she wrote.

Drive by college graduation party

With the unfortunate closing of colleges throughout the nation, many graduates are left without the literal pomp and circumstance of commencement ceremonies. That didn't stop the friends and family of Bolan native Kelsie Willert. A caravan of well-wishers drove by her home recently to congratulate her on her accomplishment and toss cards in a bicycle tire target. They were offered bottled water and cake and ice cream in return, celebrating another graduation tradition. Kelsie also received a delivery of her favorite cake from the Drake Diner in Des Moines.

Iowa Department of Inspections offers virtual inspection option for restaurants and other food businesses

The Iowa Department of Inspections and Appeals (DIA) has announced that it is now offering virtual inspections for restaurants, grocery stores, food trucks, home bakeries, hotels and food storage warehouses.

During virtual inspections, business employees and food safety inspectors utilize mobile audio and video technology to work together so that DIA may assess processes and procedures, equipment and the business' physical environment. If a facility is unable to participate in a virtual inspection, DIA food safety inspectors will complete an onsite inspection using a no-contact inspection protocol developed by the department.

At this time, the virtual option is limited to license approval inspections for new food and lodging businesses. However, DIA's food safety staff are actively working to develop a virtual inspection option for additional inspection types.

"We are committed to safeguarding the well-being of Iowans by helping to ensure the safety of the state's food supply," said DIA Director Larry Johnson, Jr. "DIA's use of virtual inspections allows food safety inspectors to verify that a business meets food safety standards while limiting potential COVID-19 exposure to inspection staff and business employees."

On March 20, DIA temporarily suspended all routine inspections of hotels, home bakeries, and food establishments, following Iowa Governor Kim Reynolds' issuance of a State of Public Health Disaster Emergency due to the COVID-19 pandemic. During the emergency declaration, DIA has limited inspections to those related to complaints, follow-up inspections, and pre-opening inspections for new businesses.

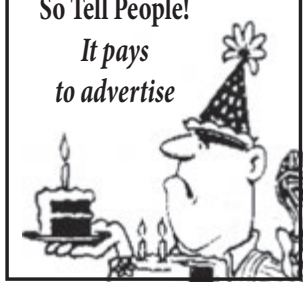

DIA Food and Consumer Safety Bureau staff are responsible for administering and enforcing the Iowa Food Code by conducting food safety inspections at food establishments (grocery stores, restaurants and convenience stores) and food processing plants. The purpose of the Iowa Food Code is to "safeguard the public health and provide to consumers, food that is safe, unadulterated, and honestly presented."

April 28, 1920

The banks of Northwood have installed a new protection for use in case a daylight hold-up is attempted. The system is known as the silent alarm. The alarm sounds in a way that is not heard in the bank but rings in several places in the city where sentries are placed with guns ready for action.

Hon. J.M. Slosson, T.O. Groe, Mrs. D. Rhodenbaugh of Northwood; Mrs. S.S. Westly, Manly, and N.E. Thoen, Kensett, attended the Republican State Convention in Des Moines as delegates from Worth County.

John A. Tenold, having been urged by numerous voters, allows his name to be announced as a candidate for nomination to the office of supervisor for the 3rd district of Worth County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters a the primary election on June 7.

Young lady friends of Miss Pearl Thompson gave her a silver show at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O.J. Thompson, in southeast Northwood in honor of her approaching marriage to Theodore Skjeveland. Refreshments were served and the evening spent at games and with music conversation.

Ed Swensrud went in to Chicago with a carload of cattle shipping over the Illinois Central out of London, owing to his inability to get a car to Northwood. Mr. Swensrud struck Friday's market, which was not the best, the tie up in the east caused by strikes bringing the price down considerably.

Charles Bergh of Kensett was found dead in his room at Kensett. The discovery was made by Clarence Nodtvedt, who had gone to Mr. Bergh's residence about 7 p.m. He had not been well for some time past and a stroke is given as the cause of his death.

Pvt. Edgar A. Fenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fenney, southwest of town, was wounded in action on Okinawa and is now recovering in a hospital, according to the latest word received by his parents.

Martin Orvedal, 33, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Helge Hove, with whom he had made his home for the past nine years while employed in this vicinity.

Forty-nine Worth County men were forwarded this week by the local selective service board to Fort Snelling, Minnesota, for pre-induction physical examinations, and one man was sent for induction.

First Lt. Ernest Anderson, 21, piloting a P-38 fighter plane, was killed in action on April 22 in the Italian theatre of war, according to a war department telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, of Lake Mills.

Fire damaged the roof of the house at the Ole O. Lund farm, where the S.A. Larsons live, eight miles southwest of Northwood. Only the prompt arrival of the Northwood fire truck and the quick response of neighbors, together with a well filled cistern and a large stock tank of water to fight the flames, kept the house and its contents from being destroyed.

Chad Sietsema, Rob Low, Henry Emmons and Kerry Ihnen planted trees at the rest stop north of Northwood. All are Boy Scouts in Northwood Troop 33. The trees were furnished by the Green Thumb Garden Club, who also assisted in planting the trees.

Richard Carpenter was taken to the Iowa Men's Reformatory by Sheriff Ivan Davey to start a 10-year term for robbery with aggravation. Carpenter was sentenced on April 23 by Judge B.C. Sullivan after pleading guilty to the charge. Carpenter has been jailed in the Worth County Jail since December, when he was arrested following a holdup-shooting of Marvin Hansmeier at Fertile Midland Co-op. He was also charged following an incident in Hampton and Alexander the night of December 15, 1969.

Members of the Green Thumb Garden Club capitalized on some warm sunny weather by preparing the Worth County Fairgrounds butterfly garden and nearby areas for the summer to come. That included planting a new tree near the horse arena. The area's latest arboreal addition is of the Rejoice Crab Apple variety. The new tree was planted in memory of Verna Skellenger, who passed away on March 24.

Northwood-Kensett ag mechanics teacher Marty Cotter took advantage of the nice weather to have his class of 14 students level the ground with sand and lay landscape blocks around the N-K 2006-07 Boys Basketball State Championship sign on Highway 65 north. The N-K Booster Club purchased the materials and the students are providing the labor. The class plans to complete the work on the other three signs before the end of the school year.

Northwood Pines Assisted Living recently received word that it had passed its latest inspection with flying colors. The result of an inspection conducted a little over two weeks ago found that there were no deficiencies in the Pines facilities or how the assisted living center is operated.

When and how should Iowa reopen the economy?

Jane Bloomingdale
Iowa House
District 51

Since the COVID-19 outbreak made its way to Iowa, our families, small businesses and communities have been impacted in ways most could not imagine. In this era of social distancing and uncertainty, many have lost their jobs and businesses have had to shut their doors. As the public health situation begins to improve and the time is right, we must begin the process of reopening Iowa's economy and get people back to work. We want to get people back to their families, social lives, churches, schools and jobs as soon as possible, but our safety must come first. If we reopen too early, we risk the possibility of creating a new wave of illnesses and deaths. If we delay, some families could be financially devastated and shuttered businesses may never come back. It's all about finding the right balance and planning accordingly.

On Friday, the Governor lifted some restrictions and started the process to reopen Iowa's economy. Hospitals and health care providers can resume offering elective surgeries and procedures, provided the facility is able to comply with requirements. Facilities must have an adequate supply of PPE, patients must test negative for COVID-19, and hospitals must reserve 30% of their ICU medical/surgical beds for COVID-19 patients. Health care providers have been struggling financially, reducing employee's hours, and laying off some staff. Patients are missing screenings and checkups. By opening up these procedures, hospitals can keep staff working and maintain access to health care for Iowans.

Farmers markets will be exempt from the mass gatherings limitations that have been expressed in the Governor's previous proclamations but will have to meet several requirements. The vendors may only sell farm products or food, booths must be six feet apart, implement reasonable measures to ensure social distancing, and increased hygiene practices. A farmers market that does not comply with these requirements is prohibited.

Additional funding was allocated for the Iowa Small Business Relief Grant program through the CARES Act. Grant notifications will go out daily until all funds are exhausted. Iowa Economic Development Authority is working through the current applicant pool and businesses with the greatest loss in revenue will be given priority. The list of new grant recipients is available at iowabusinessrecovery.com and the list will be updated daily with additional grant recipients.

Governor Reynolds launched the Iowa Small Business Relief Program to provide financial assistance to small businesses that have been economically impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. The program offers eligible small businesses grants ranging from $5,000-$25,000. In the first phase of the program, $24 million was appropriated and disbursed to awardees between April 7-10. At this time, there will be no new application period. Awards will be made from the pool of eligible applicants who submitted by the March 31 deadline.

It has been truly overwhelming to see how our local communities have rallied together during these difficult times. With the outpouring of support for each other, our local businesses, and our essential workers. As we start to reopen, stay safe. Together we will get through this. I am posting updates often on my Facebook page-facebook.com/votebloomingdale. Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions or concerns. My email is: jane.bloomingdale@legis.iowa.gov.

Help-line established to assist North Iowa small businesses seeking assistance during COVID-19 pandemic

Business owners may call 641-422- 4737 Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. or email at cares@niacc.edu.

A joint partnership to launch a small business help-line has been established between the NIACC Pappajohn Entrepreneurial Center, the North Iowa Area Small Business Development Center (SBDC), North Iowa Corridor Economic Development Corporation, and numerous other community partners to assist North Iowa business owners in navigating the array of resources available to them at the local, state and federal level.

The NIACC Pappajohn Center and SBDC team will have information available regarding the Federal Coronavirus Relief programs included those contained in the CARES Act, such as the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP), the Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL) and other SBA programs.

Small business owners have been overwhelmed with constantly changing information and the goal of this help-line is to provide a reliable source to answer the business owner's questions and direct them to their next step.

The NIACC Pappajohn Center and SBDC staff will help guide businesses through the matrix of current available resources and connect them to the key professionals or organizations who are best trained to help them.

"Our small businesses are the economic engine of North Iowa and helping them during these challenging times is our top priority. We have established the North Iowa Small Business Help Line through this partnership as a way to assist these small businesses navigate these uncharted waters," stated Tim Putnam, Director NIACC Pappajohn Entrepreneurial Center.

There are a variety of resources available to small business owners. In North Iowa there are hundreds of small businesses that may be eligible for any number of these resources, but it can be confusing and overwhelming to know where to start. When a small business owner calls the help line, volunteers will provide one-on-one assistance to navigate the application processes, manage paperwork and answer questions.
